

Green Strategies, Inc.

Corporate Consulting Services

Green Strategies is a strategic business consulting firm helping clients understand, adapt to, and prosper from the rapidly changing social, political, technological and business drivers in the energy and environmental arena. We combine insider policy expertise with deep industry knowledge to assist clients in understanding marketplace developments, finding new business opportunities and partnerships, and designing advocacy and core business strategies to maximize competitive advantage.

- ✓ With experience in energy, environmental, and climate policy development for more than a decade, including at the highest levels of government, the Green Strategies' team offers unparalleled insight into these complex and dynamic business drivers. We combine that issue expertise with our deep experience in corporate governance and transactional business practices to offer our clients a true value-added suite of services
- ✓ Our core conviction is that companies can both “do good and do well”; in fact, our experience shows us that the most successful companies are those with strong environmental, social and sustainability ethics. But while many “green consultants” focus primarily on helping clients “do good”, we are equally focused on helping our clients “do well” and we bring our deep business experience to the table along with our strong “green” credentials.
- ✓ Our clients include Fortune 50 companies, leading investment firms, major energy companies, emerging technology companies, and national business associations.
